What is WISDOM?
WISDOM aims to provide healthcare staff, students and patients in Wales with access to knowledge in the specialties of Obstetrics, Gynaecology and Midwifery.

The overarching principle of WISDOM is that, through sharing local guidelines, information leaflets, learning resources and other documents, the burden of creating new knowledge can be eased and common standards developed across Wales.

WISDOM Website
Our website makes O&G information accessible to all staff working in the community, students and patients.

Guidelines
All Health Boards in Wales are encouraged to share their relevant guidelines with us. We ask you to complete a submission form so we can monitor review dates and know who to contact once a guideline has expired.

The website aims to display national guidelines (from NICE, RCOG, NMC, RCM etc) alongside local guidelines & protocols and patient leaflets.

Archive of Expired Guidelines
Once a guideline has expired it is archived on our servers and is not longer freely available.

We are able to check on request which guidelines might have been available at a certain point in time if you let us know the relevant hospital and date.

Training Courses and Events
A Calendar page of all upcoming O&G Events linked to the registration details for ease of access.

We are happy to promote relevant courses and events free of charge.

WISDOM also hosts the Spring & Autumn Conference Organisers Information Page for the Welsh Obstetrics & Gynaecology Society.

TWOGS
WISDOM now hosts the Trainees in Wales O&G Society and all information previously on their website can be found on WISDOM.

Contact Details
Up-to-date contact details for staff in Departments of Obstetrics & Gynaecology are maintained for Hospitals in Wales and bordering Trusts.

Latest Evidence
The latest O&G Articles/Reports can be accessed from this page.

News Items
Practice changing guidelines, important health announcements and Courses will be flagged up in our News section.
